ATLANTA. GA., FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 22, 1891.-TEN PAGES

WHAT DID THEY DO IN THEIR CONVENTION AT CIN-CINNATIS

THERE WAS NO THIRD PARTY ORGANIZED, But Committees Were Appointed, and Jerry

Simpson Says Next February Will See a Third Party Formed.

CINCINNATI, O., May 21.—[Special.]—The crowd is fast disappearing, and the hotel lobbies begin to have a lonesome look. A few delegates remain in the city seeing the sights, and the national central committee remained to effect an organization.

In the meantime the sightseers have gone out to the zoo, in a hopeless endeavor to see a menagerie as wonderful as their own. By tonight's train nearly all the delegates now in town will take their departure.

As the smoke clears away the true significance of the action of yesterday begins to be seen. It is evident that there is more in the movement than the old-line politicians are able to see. Technically it is true that the able to see. Technically it is true that the new party is not yet born. This conference was not representative in any fair sense. There were representative men here, but not in proportion to the constituencies behind them. The meeting was overwhefming in spots, geographically speaking. For this reason the final step is referred to another conference next February.

The national committee will not control the six great organizations to be represented at the meeting on Washington's birthday, and the other elements may see fit to give a different turn to the movement already launched.

turn to the movement already launched. Jerry Simpson says in a Times-Star inter-"These people have come here to get some-thing," said he. "They do not know what they want, but they have gotten it, and they are satisfied. As for a new party, there has been none formed. All that has been done is to name a committee to confer with the six organizations next February. Then the new

This is true, but for all that the movement is fairly started and today's developments indicate that it will spread rapidly.

THE PLAN OF ORGANIZATION. A plan of organization, reaching to every state, county and township, and militia district, was adopted at the meeting of the national committee today. The three members of that committee for each state will constitute a committee to carry on the agitation in their own territory and will direct the work through county and township committees.
They have decided to begin work this year in Kentucky and Ohio, throwing their whole force into Kentucky until the August election and transferring their speakers into Ohio in September. They have deliberately laid their plan to attack the republicon and democratic parties in the two states simultaneously. In Ohio the fight will be on the republicans, and will have the effect to elect Campbell and de-feat John Sherman's re-election to the senate. In Kentucky the attack will be on the demo orats, and the effect will be to reduce the majority, which varies from 20,000 to 35,000 votes. The farmers say that if Clay had been nominated by the democrats he would have got their votes and increased the majority.

It is evident that Senator Carlisle underestimates the force of the new movement when he says its candidate, Woods, will poll only 2,000 or 3,000 votes in Kentucky. This movement has already attained considerable importance in Ohio, and here some of the symptoms of the South Carolina campaign are cropping out.

In his speech last night Ignatius Donnelly raised the cry of the plain people against the aristocrats, and set the keynote for the coming campaign. There is no plea so effective in the mouth of the agitator. It is the old out-cry, which precipitated the French revolutions, and the same with which Tillman roused the South Carolina farmers to the point of frenzy last summer. This cry will be taken up in Ohio this fall by the most effective ployed. Soon afterward he was employed on speakers of the alliance and the Knights of Labor. They have already engaged Jerry Simpson, the sturdy Kansan, whose fame was known around the country in one campaign; Raiph Beaumont, the Knights of Labor orator, who told the Kansas people, when they were burning corn for fuel, "to raise less corn and more hell," has been engaged to stump Ohio for six weeks, beginning the 1st of Sep-

Here it is not alone a farmers' movement. The workingmen are with them, and the president of the Builders' Trades Union, in Cincinnati, says it will give 9,000 of its 12,000 votes to the new ticket. It is predicted that all the trades of this city will give 17,000 votes to the people's party. The farmers are claiming that they will poll an immense vote for the new party this fall.

LOOKS GLOOMY FOR THE REPUBLICANS.

A Columbus newspaper man who has been

A Columbus newspaper man who has been watching the movement says the farmers will give 150,000 votes to the people's ticket in Ohio this year. This is the largest estimate I have heard from an intelligent source; others place it at 60,000. All admit that it is an important fact, for in the coming contest it be-gins to look very gloomy for Sherman and

"We are going to beat John Sherman just as sure as God made little apples," said Jerry Simpson this atternoon. "We are going to take his hide and hang it so high that every-

One of the alliance songs has this refrain: "We'll Ingallize John Sherman and McKin-

All signs point to the nomination of Campbell and McKinley, and the general opinion is that Campbell will have an easy victory.

I hear today that General Weaver will not make the approximation of Campbell signs and the control of Campbell signs and the campbell signs are signs as the campbell signs are signs and the campbell signs are signs as the campbell signs are signs as I hear today that General Weaver will not make the race for governor of Iowa this fall. It is the talk here that the third party men of that state have formed a combination with the democrats by which the latter get a governor and concede all their state officers to the people's party.

ALL FOR FREE SILVER. It is wonderful how unanimous this crowd is on the silver question. The people speak of the republican party with contempt. When the campaign of 1892 is referred to, they say in a matter-of-fact way, "The republicans are not in it."

I have it this morning from a member of I have it this morning from a memoer or congress that several republican senators have told him they believe the republican party was dead. Everybody looks for a grand shuffle and a new deal in 1892. The republicans are simply watching the weather and throwing the fat in the fire, when they see an opportunity to make a row between the democrats and the alliancement.

All eyes are now turned toward the state convention of the Farmers' Union, which meets at Columbus next Tuesday. This is composed of all the farmers' organizations of the state, and Brigham, of the grange, is president. He and a few republicans have been the and a lew republicans have been trying to hold the farmers for the old party, but they are running away, and can't stomach McKinley's high tariff ideas. It is barely possible that the union may endorse the people's movement. If it does, McKinley and Sherman won't stand a ghost of a chance. McKinley and some of his crowd will be on hand at Columbus to work on the farmers but the at Columbus to work on the farmers, but the present indications are that they will make little headway.

THE NATIONALISTS RESOLUTION.

The nationalists present at the conference have anopted the following:

Resolved, That the national delegates attending the national union conference believe that the spirit animating and entertained by the delegates in general, was a crystallization of the reform elements of the country, and, therefore, a success; and as the nationalists, recognizing the organization of effort as the fundamental principle of nationalism, we heartily endorse the formation of the people's party of the United States of America, pledge ourselves to render our best efforts to advance its upbuilding, and hope for a spirit of enthusiasm benefiting the adherents of so noble an inspiration.

An analysis of the report of th committee on credentials shows that five states—Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Ohio, and Indiana— furnished 1,049 of the 1,417 delegates in the conference. New England and the south had a very light representation in points of numbers, however weighty it may have been in other respects. Vermont and New Hampshire in New England, New Jersey in the east, and Mississippi and Georgia in the south, do not appear at all on the list. All the New England and eastern states combined, including New York and Pennsylvania, had but twenty-eight delegates. In the south, Louisiana had two, North Carolina one, Texas twenty-six, South Carolina one, and Tennessee six; a total of thirty-six for the whole south.

The small representation from the south was conference. New England and the south had six for the whole south.

The small representation from the south was not a surprise, because of the fact that, although the alliance is very strong in those states, the open policy has been to obtain local results without antagonizing in national matters the dominant party, the general understanding being that southern alliancemen were bound to support the democratic nominee for the presidency in 1892. A CALL FOR CONTRIBUTIONS.

secretary to issue a call for voluntary contributions, to be kept standing in all reform papers.

It was also resolved that a national executive committee be formed to consist of a chairman, secretary, treasurer and four members to be elected by this committee. The four elected are George F. Washburn, Massachusetts; G. F. Gaither, Alabama; Ignatius Donnelly, Minnesota; J.-H. Davis, Texas.

The national committee met today, and it was resolved to authorize the chairman and

The committee adjourned subject to the call of the executive committee. This committee met immediately afterward and elected Robert Schilling permanent secretary and M. C. Rankin permanent treasurer, and adopted the following resolutions:

Rankin permanent treasurer, and adopted Rankin permanent treasurer, and adopted Rankin permanent treasurer, and adopted that the entire union should be at once systematically organized, therefore, Resolved, That three members of the national executive committee of the people's party in each state shall constitute a state committee for such state, and it shall be their duty to appoint a subcommittee of the people's party.

THE GEORGIA REPRESENTATIVE On the Executive Committee Appointed at DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., May 21.—[Special.]—Colonel C. C. Post, of Douglasville, has taken quite an active part in the Cincinnati convention. He represents Georgia on the executive committee, and is the most prominent Georgia representative in the convention. Colonel Post has been in Georgia only about four years, "having come here on account of his health," but he is thoroughly identified with the in-terests of the state, and although he seeks no notoriety and is quite retiring, he takes a deep interest in all labor reform movements. Laying of the Corner Stone Yesterday at Utica.

Utrica, N. Y., May 21.—A tough, wet, dismal day dawned in Utica. The festcomed streets and bedraped buildings soaked in the prevailing moisture and ran their colors into the blurred mass of ure and ran their colors into the blurred mass of color against a gray sky. The laying of the corner stone for the Masonie Home for Indigent Masons, Widows and Orphans, wasapparently to be celebrated in bad weather. As the hour of noon approached the rain graduated down to occasional lrizzles. The crowds were the most orderly and theorful that ever visited this city. There were about 20,000 visitors from all parts of the state, and some from distant state. POOR MRS. MAYBRICK.

Judge Clark that the obstacle to his interference was that Mrs. Maybrick was the wife of a British subject. Although an American by birth and rearing, Mrs. Maybrick became, upon her marriage, a British subject, and entitled to all the rights and privileges of such, losing thereby her rights as a citizen of the United States. This is in accordance with the well-established principle

Notwithstanding the fact, however, that this government has no right to attempt to interfere with the exercise of justice, as construct by the English court in the case of Mrs. May brick who acquired through her husband citizenship in England, the numerous petitions received at the department of state during the past fall and winter induced Secretary Blaine last month to cable Mr Lincoln, our minister to the court of St. James, that there was a great deal of interess in the case here and instructing him to go as far as his diplomatic privileges would permit to secure Mrs. Maybrick's par don. Mr. Lincoln's action must be in the nature of an appeal to Queen Victoria for pardon. In no sense can he make a demand. umored Arrangement Between United States and the Insurgents.

United States and the Insurgents.

PARIS, May 21.—Chilian agents in this city, who represent the congressional or insurgent party, declare today that an arrangement has been made between the congressional party and the United States authorities by which the insurgent steamer Itata, which is now being chased down the west coast of America by the United States warship Charleston, will not be seized by force by the Charleston, or by any other vessel of the American navy. By the terms of this arrangement the agents state that the fugitive craft will be handed over by the Chillian insurgents to the United States authorities, pending a settlement of the question in dispute as to whether or not the Itata has violated the neutrality laws, this action, it is added, will be teken without prejudice to the congressional party, inasmuch as the Itata has enough start of the Charletton to cauble her to reach a port in the possession of the congressional party and to unlead there before she is surrendered to the United States.

THE REPORT DENIED.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Paris dispatch stating that Itata is to be peaceably surrendered to the United States by the insurgents upon her arrival in Chili, was shown to officials of the navy and state departments today, but one and all declined to discuss the matter publicly. Nevertheless, it can be stated positively, that there have been ne negotiations as reported between the insurgent agents in France, or elsewhere, and this government respecting the Itata. There is reason to believe that this government expects that the Itata will be peaceably surrender to the United States by the insurgents when she reaches Panama, but, that when she is so surrendered, the vessel will be found to have discharged her arms.

APPEALS FROM GEORGIA IN HER THE BURLY BLACK SLUGGER MEETS HIS MATCH.

CORBETT TOES THE MARK EVERY TIME,

And After Sixty-one Rounds, Some of Them Hard Fought, the Contest Is Declared Off.

San Francisco, Cal., May 21.—No puglistic event that ever occurred on the Pacific coast created more interest or excitement than the great heavy-weight battle betweeen Jim Corbett, of San Francisco, and Peter Jackson, the negro puglist of Australia, which was fought at the gymnasium of the California Athletic Club tonight. The purse was a large one-$10,000-$1,500 of which went to the loser.

The wonderful degree of interest in the match was due not only to the merits and prominence of the two principals, but also to the fact that the contest would open the way to settling the question of the championship of the world, for it was generally understood that the winner would eventually meet Frank Slavin, or any other man who might come forward for championship honors. come forward for championship honors.

The condition of the men was all that could be desired. They had trained hard and carefully and it was the opinion that neither man had ever before been in better rorm. Jackson was heavier, but in every respect it was generally admitted that one man possessed little or no advantage over the other. Both were recognized as game fighters possessing wonderful ability and wonderful quickness. Naither belonged to the "slugger" type of pugilists. The colored man's ring experience was far better than Corbett's and it was probably this fact as much as any that made Jackson the favorite in betting during the week before the fight, at odd ranging from six to ten, to eight to ten.

Some comment was elicited by the fact that Jackson sprained his ankle some weeks ago, and it was slightly swollen tonight, but, though it had caused him no inconvenience at all during his training, there was real fear expressed that it would give him trouble during BETTING IN PLENTY.

A large amount of money was wagered on the coast during the last two days. Poolrooms and other sporting resorts were crowded, and there seemed to be no end of either Jackson or Corbett money.

The contestants were required to be in the clubrooms this evening at 8 o'clock, though the fight was set for an hour later. The California Club last night appointed Hiram Cook referee. Jackson was seconded by Sam Fitzpatrick and Billy Smith; Corbett's onds were John Donaldson, Billy Delaney

The appearance of the California Athletic ms was the same as on other occ when similar contests have occurred there. The flooring within the ring was covered with padding, over which a heavy, dark-colored felt was stretched. A new feature at this contest was the ten-second clock, which was called into use whenever a knock-down occurred.

Soon after 6 o'clock the crowd commenced to gather in the street outside of the clubbouse, and an hour later the street was well filled with stragglers who had come there to get a good position in hope of receiving early information from within the gymnasium. By 7 o'clock there were probably 200 people in the clubroom; and from that time on they continued to arrive as fast as the officers at the narrow entrance could admit them. Twenty men were in attendance to preserve

EVERYBODY IMPARTIENT. As 8 o'clock approached every one in the hall showed eagerness to have the principals appear, though it was yet an hour before it would be time for them to enter the ring. The California Clubisome months ago abandoned its commodious quarters, which it occupied before the time when puglistic encounters were more popular here. The seating espacity of the gymnasium now in use is not more than the gymnasium now in use is not more than 1,000 or 1,200, but soon after 8 o'clock this evening every seat was occupied, and in the street outside the crowd there was almost as great. The best of order prevailed, though in the building there was a continued hum and murmer of excitemens, and occasional calls for the preliminary boxing exhibition which was to precede the principal event.

Jackson and Corbett arrived at the clubroom about 8 o'clock. They entered the building without attracting much attention and went to their dressing rooms immediately. Betting this evening generally continued at the same odds in Jackson's favor which had prevailed during the past twentywhich had prevailed during the past twenty four hours—$100 to $60 and $100 to $65 were which had prevailed during the past twentyfour hours—$100 to $60 and $100 to $65 were the usual figures.

THE FIGHTERS APPEAR.

It was some minutes after 9 o'clock when Jackson and Corbett, with their seconds, entered the ring. Both principals were received with cheering. During the few minutes that followed, while the gloves of the men were being adjusted, every eye in the building was turned on the men and there was a genral expression of commendation at the form they presented. The weights, as far as could be obtained, were Jackson 197, Corbett 185, though it was claimed by some that the difference was even greater than that.

After the glove were adjusted, the men advanced and shook hands. "Time" was called for the first round at 9:30 o'clock. Up to the ninth round the men fought very cautiously with clinches in nearly every round. There was no heavy hitting and neither man showed a sign of being the worse, nor did any apparent advantage to either appear.

SCIENTIFIC SLUGGING.

Gorbett made Jackson's atomach his principal point of attack, but Jackson warded him off well. Up to, and including the fifteenth round, the battle had been a decidedly scientific one. If there was any difference in the sixteenth round, after an exchange of a few light blows, Corbett caught Jackson two heavy blows on the jaw which brought out great applause.

HARD HITTING IN FLENTY.

sixteenth round, after an axonange of a few light blows, Corbett caught Jackson two heavy blows on the jaw which brought out great applause.

HARD HITTING IN PLENTY.

In the seventeenth round Jackson caught Corbett heavily several times on the chest, knocking him backward. In the eighteenth round both men received some hard blows. Hard hitting and plenty of it now became the rule. In the twentieth round Corbett knocked Jackson back with a short punch in the throat, then forced him into the corner, and in the raily which followed Corbett had decidedly the best of it, giving Jackson several hard rights and letts on the jaw.

The work of the previous round put Jackson on his mettle. In the twenty-first he gave Corbett a hard one on the jaw, but received about as good in return. The men followed each other around the ring during the remainder of the round, but no harm was done. From the twenty-second to the twenty-fifth round sparring was the order. In the twenty-sixth round Corbett caught Jackson a sharp left-hander in the stomach, which was the only good blow delivered in that round.

Up to the forty-second round the men sparred for wind, but Jackson was now doing most of the forcing.

Forty-second round—The men relapsed into a walk again.

Forty-third round—Corbett was pininty the swollen some. Corbett showed scarcely any marks on the face, but there were a number of red spots on his body. This round was like the others; nothing done.

Forty-eighth round—A few blows exchanged, but the honors were about even. Fiftleth Round—Not a blow struck.

Fifty-first Round—It was 12:50 o'clock when this round was concluded. The fight seemed to have resolved itself into a wearing-out contest.

In the fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth rounds, nothing was done.

At 1:10 a. m. there are no signs of a finish, and the spectators are protesting loudly.

Fifty-seventh round—The men continued to walk around amid derisive cries from the sleepy crowd.

The fifty-eighth round was like the others, and was concluded at 1:26.

The fight was declared "no contest" at the end of the sixty-first round.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, May 21.—Futures opened at last night's prices, closing steady at one to three points' advance from yesterday's final figures without apparent cause, and in fact with some influence operating to depress values. There was today a stronger market. Reports of weather at the south were about as good as they could be—warm, with light local showers, yet the next crop attracted more attention and showed greater strength. There is a growing sentiment in favor of the bulls. It is stated on excellent authority that much more cotton, and less shoddy, is being used in the production of goods for men's wear. It is also not improbable that the receipts at the ports will be less liberal. It is certain that stocks are undergoing a rapid reduction. Spot cotton was dull.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE CYCLONE

Showing the Great Damage to Property and Loss of Life in Missouri-Inci dents of the Storn

Sr. Louis, Mo., May 21.-The cyclone which wrought such terrible destruction to life and property near Mexico, Mo., is heard of from Centralia, Mo., as follows:

A funnel-shaped cyclone, half a mile wide,

A funnel-shaped cyclone, half a mile wide, passed one mile north of this place. A number of dwellings were totally destroyed and many persons injured, some fatally. Barns and fences were swept away, and chickens, hogs and stock killed in large numbers. A horsy belonging to Joseph Tucker was carried a quarter of a mile and blown over his residence. John F. Harrison and family, wife and eight children, were all more or less injured. One child, ten years of age, was carried half a mile, and when found, a stick had been drives through its left arm. A child five years old had its right leg broken in three places. Harrison, while seriously hurt, is not considered in danger. Attending surgeons returning from the scene of disaster today report many persons dangerously injured.

Chickens, geese and turkeys were found half picked and strewn along the path of the storm, Halistones fell in some places as large as hen eggs.

DESTRUCTION AT MOBERLY.

St. Louis, May 21.—A special from Moberly, Mo., says a most destructive wind, rain and hail storm passed over that place yesterday. Hail stones as large as eggs fell, completely demolishing crops of every description. The wind blew a perfect tornado. Rain fell in such quantities as to completely inundate the fields, drowning small stock. During the storm, which lasted about an hour, the darkness was appalling. It is believed the damage in this vicinity will reach $300,000. Fortunnately no lives were lost. All telegraph wires were torn down.

A CLOUDBURST IN KANSAS.

WICHITA, KAS., May 21.—On Tuesday a cloud burst over the house belonging to Joseph Sherman, in Comanche county. Sherman and his wife and six children climbed upon the roof of their dwelling, which floated away in the torrent, It capsized, throwing them all into the water, and three of the children were drowned. HOUSTON SWEPT BY FIRE. Six Blocks of Residences and Five Blocks

Houston, Tex., May 21.—The fire which started last evening in the mill of the Phonix Lumber Company, swept five blocks of lumber yards and six blocks of residences, together yards and six blocks of residences, together with St. Patrick's church. The water supply was totally inadequate, and the Galveston fire department was called upon. Altogether, the loss will aggregate at least $300,000. The fire companies from Galveston arrived promptly. The fire was still burning at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

Lumber Burned.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 21.—A disastrous lumber yard fire has been burning since 3 evident this morning. The entire lumber stock of J. W. Day & Co., aggregating 19,000,000, was destroyed, entailing a loss of $225,000. The firm's saw mill was saved, and the entire department has been engaged in confining the flames to the Day yard, and with every prospect of success, although there has been a high wind and the yard is in the center of the lumber district. The stock was heavily insured.

A Fire at Shelbyville.

SHELBYVILLE, Teun., May 31.—[Special.]—Another destructive fire broke out here at an early hour this morning and swept the west side of the public square. The fire started in R. A. Taylor's grocery and burned the national bank building, Commercial printing office, the postoffice and Council row, which was largely occupied by lawyers and doctors, the Warder building and Wilhoe, building. The total loss was about $30,000; insurance, about $12,000.

INSANITY THE DEFENSE.

Trial of Campbell for the Murder of Ma

Trial of Campbell for the Murder of Mamie Josephs.

Jacksonville, Fla., May I.—[Special.]—In the Campbell murder trial today both sides completed their testimony. The defense called Dr. P. H. Strauss, of Palatka, as an expert on insanity, and nearly three hours was spent in his examination and cross-examination. He testified positively to traces of insanity in Campbell, some of his symptoms and characteristics being unmistakably those of a diseased mind.

The prosecution subjected him to a very severe cross-examination, but did not shake him from his position at all. Drs. Shine and Rainey, of St. Augustine were called as insanity experts by the prosecution, but Shine was badiy broken up, when Mr. Pope, one of the defendant's counsel, asked him what gros mal was. Shins ceuldn't answer, and his career as an expert on insanity cased at this point. Dr. Rainey did better. He defined both gros mal and petit mal, but what he said was with an evident design to show Campbell's sanity and responsibility for the deed. Several letters from Campbell were placed in evidence—one written two days after the murder and denying some statements made by a representative of The Times-Union in an interview made the day before by the prisoner. The design of the prosecution, in producing these letters, is to show Campbell's sanity. Arguments will begin tomorrow. The interest is unshated. The court room is packed at every session.

FOR WHICH HE WILL BE HANGED

The Wife Murderer Convicted at Bainbridge. Story of His Awful Crime and Attempt to Escape.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., May 21.-[Special.] Ezekiel Lemmox, convicted of murdering his wife, was today sentenced to be publicly hanged on Friday, June 6, 1891.

STORY OF THE CRIME. The crime which he is charged with is one of the most brutal and premeditated that has ever occurred in this county. Both he and his wife came here during last winter from Mitchell county, where they were reared, Mrs. Lemmox having two brothers here doing business as liquor dealers. On the morning of the 2d day of last March, Lemmox went to a livery stable here and ordered a good saddle horse, saying that he wished to go into the country four or five miles, and would return within three or

After hiring the horse he presents himself to his brother-in-law, Mr. C. C. Willis, and borrows of him $2. With this he goes to a liquor saloon and purchases two bottles of whisky, mounts the horse and goes to his home, which was a house on the premises of Mr, E. J. Willis, who, with his family, was on a visit to Mitchell county. Finding his wife alone in the house this was the auspicious moment for his devilish purpose. A negro woman happenened to be on the premis the purpose of getting some clothing of Mr. Willis's to be washed. When he discovered her presence he concealed himself behind an se in the yard, though not before he d been noticed by her. The woman left the emises very soon with the clothes, !eaving Mrs. Lemmox alone in the house. Availing himself of the opportunity, he entered the house, seized his wife, who at the time was making up her bed, threw her on it and

THE DAUGHTER'S DISCOVERY. Little Bell Lemmox, their daughter, about thirteen years old, being absent at school, returned home at noon, to find the doors and windows closed. Opening and entering a window her eyes fell with horror on the form of her mother lying cold in death across the bed. With a shriek of despair she gave the alarm to a neighboring family, on the opposite side of the street, from which the alarm soon reached Sheriff the alarm soon reached Sherin L. F. Patterson who within a short time was on track of the murderer. After a pursuit of about five hours and breaking down three fast horses he overtook him two miles east of Camilla, Ga. At Camilla Sheriff Patterson took the train for Bainbridge with his prisoner and when the train reached the Ocklockonee river bridge. Lemmon who had been complaining of when the train reaccide the Contocondon iver bridge, Lemmox who had been complaining of being sick at the stomach, was taken to the rear end of the car with hand-ouffs on in order that he could vomit without annoyance to other passengers.

A LEAP FROM THE TRAIN.

No sooner was the western bank of the stream reached than he gave a spring for liberty, but the momentum of the running train caused him to fall on the opposite bank from where he intended. Some section hands being at work at this point the sheriff ordered them to catch him which they did in short order. In the meantime the sheriff, not waiting for the train to stop, sprang from the train and sprained his ankle severely. Lemmox was then brought to this city and on after the sheriff had started in pursuit soon after the sheriff had started in pursuit of the murderer, the coroner summoned a jury, before whom was educed sufficient evidence to find that Ezekiel Lemmor killed his wife. Among the various witnesses was the daughter, Bell, who swore that her father had for some time threatened to kill her mother, and that he said he would have done it before if he could have had the expectations.

Homer Willis, the Boy Murderer, in a Serious Frame of Mind.

DAWSON, Ga., May 21.—[Special.]—Homer Willis, the young boy who killed George Outlaw, has cooled down considerably, and now begins to realize the enormity of his crime and the seriousness of his position. He is yet cheerful, however, and never gets into a fretful mood. He is more reticent, and does not talk so freely to his visitors. At night he is confined in a cell, but during the day is given the liberty of the passage way between the cells. He received a letter from his father Saturday, saying that he would leave Texas for Dawson in a few days.

Blackstone worked on the railroad at Rocky creek and only came to the city yesterday.

THE RECEIVER SELLS

The Covington and Macon for $1,000,000 to the Bondholders.

MACON, Ga., May 21.—[Special.]—Today at 11:30 o'clock, at public outery, in front of the courthouse door, Receiver J. C. Key sold the Covington and Macon road for $1,000,000 to Lawyer ton and Macon road for $1,000,000 to Lawyer Skipworth Wilmer, of Baltimore, chairman of the committee of bondholders, He bought the road for the bondholders, and paid the minimum amount allowed by the court in the terms of the sale. There was no other bid or bidder. President John M. Robinson, of the Seaboard and Roanoke, was not on the scene. There was a large crowd of citizens present as mere spectators. The only out-of-town men present, who were narticularly interested in the sale, besides Mr. Wilmer, were Alexander Brown, the well-known banker, of Baltimore, and the principal owner of the bonds, also, Mr. Jack Spalding, of Atlanta, representing the Central and the Richmond and Danville rairoads.

Notification was given before the bidding of a claim of William Leverett, of Machen, of $1,400.05 against the road for crossties furnished; also,

Tomorrow the court will be asked to confirmation the road will be renamed and reorganized and will be leased to the Central and Richmond and Danville for, perhaps, ninety-nine years. The name of the new road will probably be Macon and Northern or Macon and Northeastern. The roadbed will be put in first-class condition.

Macon and Northeastern. The roadbed will be put in first-class condition.

The road was bonded at $12,000 per mile and stocked at $12,000 per mile. The total amount of bonds is $1,384,000. New 4½ per cent bonds and new stock will be issued. In addition to the above bonds, receiver's certificates to the amount of $100,000 have been issued, and the proceeds from these certificates have been expended in improving the roadbed. These certificates take precedence over the first mortgage bonds.

In Macon's history three railroads have been sold at public outcry in front of the courthouse door. The first sale was in 1845, of the old Macon and Monroe road, from Macon to Forsyth, now known as the Macon and Western, which runs from Macon to Atlanta.

known as the Macon and Western, which runs from Macon to Atlanta.

The next sale was the Macon and Brunswick division of the present East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, which was sold by order of the state. The sale of the Covington and Macon today makes the third. Perhaps there may be a fourth, fifth and sixth sale at a near date, namely, the Georgia Southern, Macon and Atlantic, and Macon and Birming. 842,000 IS THE AMOUNT

That Bibb Will Spend Next Year on Her Public Schools.

Macon, Ga., May 21.—[Special.]—The county commissioners today decided to appropriate $42,000 for public schools next year. The board of education asked for $43,000, but the commissioners thought $42,000 would be sufficient. The schools of Bibb are in a flourishing condition. They are growing rapidly. The board of education regret that the commissioners did not allow the full amount commissioners did not allow the full amount asked for. It is not improbable that an effort will be made to change the present law, which allows the commissioners to name the sum for the public schools, and to require the commissioners to levy a tax for any amount the board of education may see fit to ask for.

Last December his little boy, a child about three years of age, died, and the only explanation of the suicide that the relatives will give out is that he was despondent over the death, and, by worriment, became temporarily insaue.

About four years ago he purchased a lottery-ticket with another man. It drew $15,000 and Mr. Verdery received half of that amount. The other winner was found dead in Texas last summer and it was stated at the time that he committed suicide.

Mr. Verdery's father also committed suicide.

Mr. Verdery's father also committed suicide.

Verdery's mind has been unbalanced for some time. He was under the impression that he had caused the death of his child. The little one had diphtheria and its physician prescribed some medicine. Mr. Verdery measured a dose some medicine. Mr. Verdery measured a dose and thinking it was too large would not give it to his little one. When the child died, he accused himself of its murder. Recently he has called on a number of doctors and asked them if the dose of medicine would have saved his child's life. This preyed upon him and destroyed his reason.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 21 .- [Special.]-The second days' sale of lets at Dilworth, Charlotte's beautiful suburb, showed no decrease of interest In fact, the buying was quicker than at the first sale, and all the purchasers tonight are happy.
Some good money has been made by various purchasers. One man was offered $500 profit on five lots bought today, while another refused $200 five lots bought today, while another refused $200 profit on one lot. The company congratulated itself upon the fact that its purchasers have already a profit in their investments, and have determined to contine their guarded policy of keeping down boom prices. This they will not allow, and the prices today indicate very clearly that they are serious in their determination to prevent an inflation of values.

The lots sold today brought from $200 to $700 each and the number sold reached about sixty. The sale showed aggregate receipts of about $25,000 which is an indication that the three days' sales will reach about $100,000.

This is all the company desired to sell and they GREENVILLE, Miss., May 21.—[Special.]—The primary election in Boliar county, which came off today has been regarded with much interest abroad, from the fact that it is the first county in today has been regarded with much interest abroad, from the fact that it is the first county in the state to pronounce upon the exciting Issue involving the two United States senatorships. While it has been generally asserted that the Delta was solid against the subtreasury and for George and Walthal, through a peculiar state of polities, this has not been the case in Bolivar county for some years past. So Keen has been the strife of factions there that every question was a case of division—a measuring of strength—hence the anti-Scott following, which holds the executive committee was quick to adopt and make a fight for a legislative, subtreasury, anti-George ticket and selected W. B. Roberts as their candidate for the legislature, against whom were pitted George Y. Scott for state senator and J. R. Wiggins for the legislature.

The returns in tonight at 9 o'clock from seven precincts out of tweenty, give the anti-subtreasury candidates a majority which cannot be overcome in the other precincts. The election passed off quietly, not a single disturbance being reported. Only white participated in this election.

The way in which Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up people in run-down or weakened state of health, onclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." Arrest of the Runaway Girl from Enfaula-She Refuses to Return Home with Her Uncle.

Macon, Ga., May 21.—[Special.]—THE Con-mution this morning contained a special sing that a young white girl, aged fifteen an named Pearl Barnes, had ran away m her uncle in Eufaula, and he was trying have her arrested. She arrived in Macon night and was placed under arrest by jet of Police Kenau. She had arrived on Southwestern train and the chief found at the Wilborn house, where she and a panion, Emma Brown, had registered as ters. Emma is older and larger than atl. Both are very good looking. This is account that Pearl gives of herself:

CRUELLY TREATED.

She said she had left home on account of the el treatment of her uncle, with whom she did in Eufaula. She had formerly lived in ilmington, N. C., but was turned over to her ele by her mother to be raised. Her mother ustill living in Wilmington, and it was her pose to return to her mother.

The girl had about $40 in money, which she if was given to her by a friend to allow her escape from the crueity of her father.

All of this she confided to Chief Kenan, i, as was his duty, he asked for the money. Sedid not have it. She had turned it over her companion to keep. Chief Kenan at a demanded the money from the alleged as and secured it. CRUELLY TREATED.

She giggled a minute and then said: "Well, me's no man at the bottom of it; you needn't ileve that tale."

She was assured that such a suspicion had rer entered his mind, and was urged to tell at what was at the bottom of it. "Idon't expect to be talking to you resters," she said, "because you want to pubhit, and I know it. You can't get anything at of me, no sir ree. I left home because I anted to, and I don't expect to go back either. I would rather go to jail than to go ek to my uncle. He didn't treat me right, all ain't going to let him take me back."
"There he is, now," she said, as a man appead on the opposite side of the street. "Do reckon he'll hurt me? I don't care, he m't take me back. He'd do anything to me. I know what he has been saying—has been telling all sorts of bad things at me, but there ain't a word of truth jn it. idn't know a thing about that woman I me me me to on the train. OF GREAT PRICE. COLONEL JAKE YOUNG COULDN'T BE FOOLED BY AN ALBANT POLICEMAN.

The Terror of Berrien County Makes a Brief Visit to the Artesian City, and Interviews an Officer.

ALBANY, Ga., May 21.—[Special.]—Colonel Jake Young, the Berrien county desperado, who is regarded with almost as much fear and rembling as was Rube Burrows in his palmies days, was in the city recently, and when his presence became known it created somewhat of a sensation. The reputation which Colonel Young has won as a crack shot and depopu-lator, insures him wherever he goes a wide of a sensation. The reputation which Colonel Young has won as a crack shot and depopulator, insures him wherever he goes a wide borth, and people who know him always stop breathing as he goes by. But on this particular occasion the colonel did not harm any one, although he was a little in his cups.

But the colonel was not "full" enough to be fooled by an Albany policeman. When Cox & Livingston's 'bus called for Colonel Young it was pulled by two familiar grays, and driving down Broad street stopped in front of Ls. Plonsky's grocery' store, and Mr. Young alighted and went in. The 'bus then moved on around Hillsman & Agar's corner, and Plonsky's delivery wagon drove up and took its place in front of the greecry store. When Colonel Young got out of the 'bus Officer Barron, who swears he didn't know the colonel, was standing near, detected that the colonel, was standing near, detected that the colonel, was standing near, detected that the colonel, was a little unsteady, but not sufficiently so to warrant interference.

When the colonel had completed his business with Mr. Plonsky and stepped out to again re-enter the 'bus, there was an expression of awful amazement on his face, for instead of the 'bus and the two big gray horses, he was confronted by the delivery wagon, to which was hitched a little black mule.

Colonel Young gazed and gazed upon this "turnout" with wonder depicted in every lineament of his stern countenance, then he turned to Officer Barron, and asked:

"Where is the 'bus I came here in?"

"That's it," replied the officer, "get in; they're only changed horses."

Colonel Young then surveyed the officer for a while without speaking, and then again turned his attention to the delivery wagon, which after regarding intently for a few moments, he left with the remark:

"I may be drunk, but I'll be durned if I am green enough to ride in that concern," and he meandered around the corner, where he found the 'bus waiting and the mystery was explained.

When the rumor that Jake Young was in the city was conf

THE LEWIS MONUMENT.

The Beautiful Shaft to Be Erected at Dah-

Nelson, Ga., May 21.—[Special.]—The Blue Ridge Marble Company is just finishing one of the best monuments ever made by it. It is to be erected at Dahlonega, Ga., on the campus of the North Georgia Agricultural college, to the memory of Colonel David W. Lewis, the first president of that college. It will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies on June 29th. Governor Northen will make an address upon that occasion and will be followed by Mr. James J. Gaillard, an alumnus of the college.

Mr. James J. Gaillard, an alumnus of the college.

The monument is of medium cloud creole marble throughout, and is said to be of the finest stone ever taken from the quarries here. The bottom base is five feet square and two feet thick. Two other bases slightly smaller will be above this, upon one of which in large capitals, is the surname Lewis. The die will be three by five feet, on the four sides of which is carved the inscription. The cap is ornamented with medallions upon each of which is carved in monogram, the initials "D. W. L."

The plinth is carved, and above it rises a beautitul spire eleven feet, sloping upward symmetrically. The total height from the bottom base is twenty feet four inches. This will be the largest marble monument ever sent from the Georgia quarries. It will be shipped May 28th to Dahlonega.

The fund to build it, about $1,000, has been raised by the Lewis Monument Association, consisting of alumni of the college and the ladies of Dahlonega, from the former students of the North Georgia Agricultural college and friends of Colonel Lewis, aided in part by the Georgia State Agricultural Society.

The following inscription is taken from the monument:

In Memory of
DAVID WILLIAM LEWIS,
First President of North Georgia Agricultural College, 1873-1885.

In public service he was a wise legislator, a safe counselor, an orator and a patriot.

He was a devoted father and a loyal Christian proad in his views, and in his faith simple as a state child.

He was a deviced rando and the horse in his views, and in his faith simple as a little child.

His last great work was his presidency of the North Georgia Agricultural college. Here he taught the boys and girls to love and live for their native state, typing its chivarty and its virtue in their own lives, and looking to its future welfare in their keeping.

His fatherly interest in the student, his own scholarly accomplishments and faithful teaching, and his gentle and affectionate counselings won in every heart a loving place for "The Old Colonel."

The Third Party Movement.

The platform adopted by the convention of discontented republicans at Cincinnati is both significant and interesting. It is especially significant in view of the essentially democratic interpretation which it gives to the pressing issues of the day. It was a remarkable convention in every respect, and it has formulated a remarkable platform.

What is remarkable about the convention is the fact that it was composed mainly of discontented republicans who have opened their eyes to the fact that the party which has heretofore claimed their allegiance is the party of the plutocrats and is manipulated in the interest of the classes as opposed to the masses. Our staff correspondent, who was sent to study the elements of which the convention was composed, vouches for the earnestness and enthusiasm of the delegates. The great majority of these are men who have been slowly discovering the fact that the republicanism practiced by the party of Quay is the very essence of sectionalism so far as its southern policy is concerned, and the subsidized representative of the monopolists and plutocrats in respect of its national policy. For years these western farmers and workingmen have been voting with the republican party because of its sectional policy. They had been taught to regard the southern people as the enemies of the republic, and the prejudices that are the outgrowth and result of education are difficult to overcome. Nevertheless the pressure of self-interest has been gradually compelling them to take note of the fact that the national policy of the republicans

The signs of this movement have been nanifesting themselves for many months. The Cincinnati convention is not the result of a sudden and whimsical disposition on the part of a few cranks and office seekers. It is the result of a deliberate and cautiously formed intention on the part of a large body of voters to break loose from the party with which they have heretofore been associ-is not only unfriendly to the masses, but ctually and actively burdensome to the farmers. Slowly but surely the farmers and the laboring men of the west and north have been drifting away from the publican party.

From this point of view the Cincinnat convention is both significant and important. It marks an uprising on the part of those who have been misled by their prejudices against the south into supporting the republican policy of high tariff taxation, fraud, corruption and extrava-

Quite as significant as the circumstances out of which the convention was evolved is the platform which it threw together. Undoubtedly there was haste in the preparation of this declaration of principles. The elements of which the convention was composed, while not discordant as to their general aim, lacked the harmony that springs from discussion and consultation. Nevertheless, the platform which they framed shows beyond all question that the convention and the voters whom it repreients have cut loose from the republican party. There is not an issue or a prinsiple now before the people on which those who endorse the Cincinnati platform can agree with the republican party. The platform carries out the feeling expressed by the delegates when, referring to the republicans, they joined in singing 'Good-bye, Old Party, Good-bye!"

If is significant, too, that the platform it identical in most of its features with the loctrine held by democrats.

The demand that the government shall Issue its own notes, and in sufficient volume to transact the business of the counury, is good democratic doctrine.

So is the demand for free and unlimit ad coinage of silver.

sound and democratice are for the suppression of alien at there shall be no taxation of one

That there shall be a just and an equitable graduated tax on inco And that the means o fpublic communication in transportation shall be controlled by the public.

These are the features of the platform adopted with the exception of the demand for limited government loans at two per centi on imperishable productsknown as the subtreasury plan. Against anything like this the republican party is irrevocably committed, while the democratic party is pledged to secure finan cial reform. It recognizes the grievance which prompts the above demand; and will satisfy its advocates by going to the root of the evil with legislation that will exercise the desired effect. As has been explained by the leaders of the alliance, this particular plan is significant only as it represents the demand of the farmers for some sort of definite financial

There is no doubt that this convention of discontented republicans knew what it wanted, and there is little doubt that the drift of sentiment among them is in the direction of the democratic party. It is true that the delegates went through the formality of organizing a third party. They are not ready just now to join the democrats; but when they perceive as they surely will, that the southern contingent on which they rely to make their third party respectable in point of numbers, persists in sticking to the democratic party, the third party will disappear and the western republicans who endorse the Cincinnati platform will find their way to the democratic party, which is pledged to all the important reforms which they demand.

Totten's Big Sensation.

The spread of emotional sensationalism in the religious methods of the day makes it easy for such prophets as Lieutenant Totten of Yale university, to obtain a favorable hearing.

At a recent meeting of the Brooklyn Baptist Social Union Lieutenant Totten explained his theory fully, following the line of argument already presented by him in these columns, and backing it by numerous notations from scripture, and a formidable rray of figures. The speaker called attention to the fact that the Jews are already beginning to return to Jerusalem according to the Bibl prophecy. He said that all Europe would on be involved in war and that only two nations of the world would be favored, according to Revelations. These nations will be the two that have least persecuted the Jews-the English and the Americans. He remarked that the Christian church had vanished, and that the present church was a house divided against itself. Then he warned his hearers that the beginning of the end would take place on the 29th of next April, and said that the end of the world would come in 1899.

The New York Commercial Advertise forms us that the address created a profound sensation, and that two clergymen arose, and urged all present to take the lesson to themselves seriously. Since the publication of Totten's predicion several ministers in different parts of he country have come out in support his theory, and no one need be surprised to see a period of excitement far surpassing the amous Millerite business

And yet, the men who believe in this prophecy will go on driving sharp bargains, making their plans for the future. Their conduct will show that, while Totten has successfully appealed to their love of the marvelous, they in reality do not believe ever will know in advance when the fateful day is coming. And for this they certainly have good scriptural authority.

Heresy, Past and Present.

There is a great outcry raised in certain quarters over the alleged heresy of Rev. Dr. Briggs, and the probable action of the Northern Presbyterian general assembly in the matter.

After all, Dr. Briggs will not be much hurt if the case should go against him. A great deal is said about the intoler ance of the various religious denominations these days, but heretics and unorthodox persons have a much easier time than they had in this country 200 years ago. An old book of records kept in a Quaker meeting house at Green point, R. I., gives the following interesting picture of the religious situation in the year of grace, 1682:

SEPTEMBER 15, 1682 .- To Ye Aged and Beloved n Higginson: There be now at sea a ship he Welcome, which has on board 100 or of the heretics and malignants called Quakers, with W. Penn, who is the chief scamp

Master Huscott feels hopeful, and I will set lown the news when the ship comes back. Yours n ye bowels of Christ, COTTON MATHER. It is lucky for Dr. Briggs that he did not live in those days. If the Rev. Cotton Mather and his followers could have laid their hands upon him they would have glorified God, according to their lights, by selling him for rum and sugar to the slave drivers of Barbadoes. As it is, he may lose a professorship in one college and get one in another institution. He may be censured by one set of believers and applauded by another. His claim that there are errors in the Bible will not cause good men to ostracise him, nor will he lose his property and his liberty. He will be allowed to go ab

The Southern Alliance Idea. Colonel Livingston dropped a bombshell into the third party camp at Cincinnati when he said that the southern alliance would stick to the democratic party.

This is the unanimous sentiment alliancemen. It would be well to keep this before the people. The democratic party is pledged to all the essentials of the great reforms demanded by the alliance, and our farmers to a man agree with Governor Tillman that the way to win is to make their fight inside of the party lines.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

In His article about his recent visit to this country, in The Contemporary Review, Sir James Kitson tells an interesting anecdote about General Sherman, who was present at the dinner of the Iron and Steel Institute at Delmonico's. "The English visitors," says Sir James, "were much impressed by the dignified, respectful and affectionate way by the dignified, respectful and affectionate way in which the general spoke of Queen Victoria. He said that Americans would never forget that her majesty had been their friend in the civil war, and had used her influence in opposition to the recognition of the south as a nation His frank, outspoken exclamation, 'The queen, God bless her!' touched every heart. After the general had spoken, an incident occurred illustrative of the complete recognitistics of the complete recognitions of the complete recognition of th trative of the complete reconciliation of the north and south. Here is how he answers the question:

"That's due to several things which, when the are put right, you will see the people who are not flocking to the towns going back to their farms and they will be glad to get back, and farms an farming will be at a premium. out at any cost, as they are now doing, and go off to the towns. Our theory in Georgia has been that educational advantages could not be practically secured for many rural districts for the lack of population. Now, the very reverse is true. We can never have the population until we have the schools. Here is land, for example, which goes a-begging at $3 per acre. There is no inducement for families to move into that section, and hence there's no demand for the land. Put a good school there, improve the roads and the agricultural methods. THE SILVER QUESTION.

By Henry Jones.

coinage no violation of contracts-ent obligations payable either in gold

There are no other people in the country so scrapulously conscientious and hopelessly sensitive as the owners of money, or of public or private obligations which call for the payment of money. So concerned are they, as particularly good citizens, in gnarding the public reputation that they insist that debts must be settled with the "best money," that is "the money which is worth the most," lest the taint of repudiation should linger somewhere about the public garments. They were never known to complain of nents. They were never known to complain o ments. They were never known to complain of the money of payment when, in consequence of its scarcity, a dollar was increasing in value every day; but when they think they see a prospect that the debtor may have a lawful choice between two kinds of money, they clamor for legislation to compel him to pay in the dearer coin, though it be more than he ought to pay, or had any idea that he would be called upon to pay when he made his contract. Naturally enough these people say that all indebtednsss of the government must be paid in gold only. paid in gold only.

The United States are legally, equitably and in a lifetime. Men go to hear such sermons in the same spirit they go through the slums of New York. They talk and laugh over them, but they are ineffective. On the other hand, morally bound to pay all their obligations strictly in accordance with the terms of the contract, but not otherwise. It is no part of I once heard Mr. Grady deliver a speech that was the most effective sermon I ever heard. It was to a crowd of 3,000 people gathered at a picnic over in Andersonville, S. C. Mr. Grady had prepared no speech. But as he stood under the spreading boughs of a great oak tree on a hillside overlooking the river, with a preacher on each side of him, and facing the great mass of expectant faces, this wonderful man seemed inspired from heaven. Eloquent expressions dropped from his lips with the grace and ease of the flowing stream beneath, and as he stood there with uncovered head lit by the tempered rays of the sun finding their way through the leaves and boughs of the live oak, and pictured to that audience the trae happiness of the old southern home, where the love of God ruied, the entire audience wept tears, soon followed by unmistakable exthe duty of the government to pay one penny more than the contract calls for either by pay ments in more dollars, or in appreciated gold coin when silver satisfies the obligation. The rights of the people, who pay, are every whit as sacred as those of the creditors who receive, and it is not the business of public officers, the servants of the people, to defraud either party. It is their duty, moreover, and their plain duty, to see to it that no more public money is paid out on account of public obligations than is absolutely necessary to satisfy them according Twenty-five years ago the great bulk of the bonded indebtedness of the government was in the form of what were known as "five twenthe form of what were known as "five twenties." They had been negotiated at a discount, and were payable in "lawful money," that money being treasury notes, or "greenbacks." which, by the act authorizinglibem, were a legal tender for all public and private debts, except customs dues and interest on the public debt. In March 1869, after all these bonds had been sold by the government and had become private property, the congress was induced to pass a law called, "An act to strengthen the public credit," making, these bonds payable in coin, the sole object of which, intended and effected, was to materially inpressions of joy. When he stopped, the audience remained seated for a time, and then the people crowded around to look at the man who could talk so eloquently. A well-known minister who had sat by Mr. Grady as he talked, grasped his intended and effected, was to materially in-crease the value of these obligations in the hands of their owners, at the expense, of salary for nothing, even though congress is not in session," said he. "The ninth is perhaps the only district in the state with more than a handful of hands of their owners, at the expense, of course, of the taxpayers.

It is reasonable to suppose that these bondholders would have been satisfied with this gratuity, amounting to at least 30 per cent of their holdings, tendered them by a free-handed and liberal congress, but the ease with which they changed a contract payable in lawful money to one to be satisfied with coin stimulated them to a further alteration and violation of the contract, so that all government obligations must be paid in gold only. Nothing stands in their way but the law of the land.

The act of March 18th, 1869, "to strengthen the public credit," declared all obligations of the government payable in coin or its equivalent unless where it was expressly provided that payments might be made "in lawful that payments might be made "in lawful money or other currency than gold or silver." The next legislation on the subject was the act of July 14th, 1870, "to authorize the refunding of the national debt," which provided for payment of public obligations "in coin of the present standard value," that is of the standard value of July 14th, 1870, which was a gold dollar of 25.8 grains, or a silver dollar of 412.5 grains. The act of January 20th, 1871, amended this act in a few non-important particulars. There was no further legislation prior to the silver demonstizing act of February 12th, 1873. While the silver dollar was in a demonstized and suspended condition, that is between

While the silver dollar was in a demonetized and suspended condition, that is between February 12, 1873, and February 28, 1878, congress passed the act of January 14, 1875, "to provide for the resumption of specie payments," which declared that on and after January 1, 1879, the secretary of the treasury shall redeem the outstanding greenbacks "in coin," and may provide a redemption fund by selling any of the bonds authorized by the act of July 14, 1870, at not less than par, "in coin." Nothing is said in this act about "gold" or "silver," or "gold coin," or "silver coin." The greenbacks were to be redeemed "in coin" and this is all there was of it.

On February 28, 1878, the Bland-Allison act was passed, "to authorize the coinage of the standard silver dollar, and to restore its legal tender character." This was a free coinage act as it passed the house, but the senate changed it so as to authorize coinage only on government account, the secretary of the treasury being required to purchase a sufficient quantity of silver bullion to coin \$2,000,000 monthly, or, if he saw fit, \$4,000,000. This provision, however, was in the bill as it passed the house and was not disturbed by the senate. the United States, silver dollars of the weight of  $412\frac{1}{2}$  grains troy of standard silver, as provided in the act of January 18, 1867, on which shall be the devices and superscriptions provided by said act; which come, together with all silver dollars heretofore coined by the United States, of like weight and fineness. valued States, of like weight and fineness, shall be a legal tender, at their nominal value, for all debts and dues public and private, ex-cept where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract."

A concurrent resolution, introduced by Sen-ator Stanley Matthews, afterwards and until ator Stanley Matthews, afterwards and until his death a justice of the supreme court of the United States, passed the senate January 28, 1878, by 42 to 20, and the house January 28, 1878, by 189 to 79. After mentioning in the preamble the acts of 1869, 1870 and 1875, here cited, it was resolved, "That all the bonds of the United States, issued, or authorized to be issued, under said acts of congress, hereinbefore recited, are payable, principal and interest, at the option of the government of the United States, in silver dollars of the coinage of the United States containing 4123 grains each of standard silver, and that to restore to its coinage such silver coins as a legal store to its coinage such silver coins as a lega tender in the payment of said bonds, principa and interest, is not in violation of the public faith, nor in derogation of the rights of the public creditor."

The present law (act of July 14, 1800) di-The present 18w (act of July 12, 1869) arrects the purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion monthly, at a price not exceeding $1 for 371‡ grains of pure silver, and the issuance of treasury notes in payment of such silver redeemable "in coin," but no change is made in the legal tender power of any gold or silver

However desirous bondholders and those sympathizing with them are to obtain such a construction of the contract as will compel the payment of the entire public indebtedness in gold, they cannot do so without a plain violation of the contract between the people of the United States and their creditors. Every government bond now in existence was issued under a law prior to the demonetizing act of 1873, and even if the worst feature of that legislation had not been remedied, and the silver dollar had now no legal tender power, still the bonds would be payable in silver dollars, since all silver dellars were legal tender coins at the time these bonds were authorized.

The silver dellar of 371½ grains pure silver was a legal tender for all debts, public and private, up to February 12, 1873, and has been since February 28, 1878, and is now, and no obligation of the government or of the private individual is violated when it is tendered in full and complete satisfaction of a debt.

A few of them express some hope yet that the democratic house now in power will begin a reformation in favor of the people. begin a reformation in Tavor of the people. This faith in the democratic party has been very much weakened recently by Mr. Cleveland's letter on the silver question, connected with the deliberate effort on the part of some the party as the nominee for president. There is much more in this position, taken by northwestern-democrats, than the casual observer would credit. They do not hesitate to affirm that that the political leaders of the party, east and south, are now combined to bring about Mr. Cleveland's nomination. They believe also that this effort is backed by the money power of the east and of Europe.

The opinion is strengthening day people is to be found in an alliance between the northwest and the south.

"I found them exceedingly anxious to know how our people south viewed the political atuation. They were eagerto catch every bit of information in this line from any source whatever, which showed their intense interest in the political situation in the south. "The masses that composed the convention in Cincinnati came, many of them, instructed by their people at home not to return without setting on foot a third party movement. "To what extent was the south represented in that convention?"

"To a very small extent indeed. The call for the Cincinnati convention was irregular and unauthorized, so far as the alliance is conpresent from the southern states. Of course, their influence was very limited, and they did not attempt to leave the impression upon the convention that the alliance people of the south would consider themselves committed to Friends of the lessees declare the commission's decision will be that these lessees. On the other hand, interested state will require the lessees to return to the state the taxes paid by the state to Tennessee last year, and that the lessees will get nothing whatever from the state.

FUNERAL OF CAPTAIN SAGE. His Death the Result of Injuries Received in a Collision.

The funeral services of Captain J. C. Sage will be held at the residence, on Grant street, near Grant park, at 3:30 o'clock this after-

Captain Sage was about thirty-six years of age, and his death was an unusually sad one. Three weeks ago a Georgia Pacific train collided with an East Tennessee train on the track between Atlanta and Austell, which is used by both roads.

In the wreck Captain Sage received severe nternal injuries, which finally resulted in his

At the time of his death Captain Sage had the contract for double-tracking the Georgia Pacific railroad from Atlants to Austell, and was looking after the work on the road when he was injured.

Captain Sage was a civil engineer and had stained much prominence, having formerly been engineer for the Air-Line railroad, under Colonel Foraker and with the Georgia Pacific railroad under his brother, Mr. I. Y. Sage, then general manager of the road.

As a man he had the confidence and esteem of all who knew him, and a large number of friends throughout the state deeply regret his death. At the time of his death Captain Sage had

NEWS OF SOCIETY.

Gossip About People You Know. News and Comment.

One of the most elegant and delightful afternoon receptions in the annals of Atlanta society was that given yesterday by Mrs. W. D. Ellis at her handsone residence on Washington street. The entire lower floor was thrown into one by the means of sliding doors, and the daylight was excluded. The rooms, with their rich furnishings, beantiful flowers and brilliant lights, presented a scene of enchaptment. The drawing room and library were adorned with rich roses, delicate ferms and rare palms. The reception hall was lovely with many danies, and the most exquisite rhododendrons; and daisies and ferms formed the minor floral adornments in the dining room, while the large table was arranged with rose-colored ornaments and flowers; bouquets of pink loses tied with pink ribbon graced each small table, where delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Ellis received her guests in a soft wool, demi-trained gown, trimmed with rich lose, the whole costume most becoming to her charming style of beauty.

The operetta to be given this evening for the benefit of the Home for the Friendiers, under the management of Miss Marie DuBois Congdon, will be one of the most brilliant and charming musical entertainments ever enjoyed at DeGive's by an Atlanta andience.

Nearly all the boxes have been taken for the co-casion, and many hundred tickets have already been sold. The ladies interested in the Home for the Friendless have spared neither pains or time in arranging for this enter-tainment, and they have succeeded in securing a great deal of beauty and talent. Miss Congdon's nusical training and perfect taste in arranging the opera and casting characters has proved her, not only a fine musician, but a splendid teacher as well. She has had the entire musical direction not only a fine musician, but a splendid teacher as well. She has had the entire musical direction of the opera, and the success it is sure to gain will be largely due to her efforts. Among the many attractions Miss Pet Strahan will be one of the greatest. Though a child in years, she is remarkably gifted as an actress, and no professional soubrette could surpass her piquant grace and skill as an artistic dancer. She is remarkably pretty as well as talented, and, the fact that she is to take part in this affair, will draw all of her many ardent admirers.

which occurred at the beautiful residence of Mr. Dunbar, on West Church street, at 8:30 o'clock p. m., May 20th, Rev. D. S. McCurry, assisted by Rev. J. W. Quillian, officiating. Mr. A. S. Dunbar, brother of the bride, acted as best man, while Miss Susise Cross, a charming young lady from Atlanta, acted as maid of honor. The attendants were: Mr. W. A. Bagwell and Miss Emma Wooley, Mr. Oscar Dunbar and Miss Matte Moon.

Miss Cora Spinks, of Atlanta, rendered a beautiful wedding march as the young couple and their attendants entered the parlor. The bride wore a lovely gown of white mull with lace and ribbons. The siridesmaids all wore gowns of mull, lace and ribbons. The bride carried a bunch of pure white roses and madden-hair ferns. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of Marcohal Niel roses and ferns. The parlors were elegantly decorated with rare and lovely flowers and evergreens. The presents were many, beautiful and costly. The bride has been a favorite and reigning belle for some time in Flowery Branch society circles, while the doctor is quite a rising and prominent physician.

We will say, however, that each and every number was given in a masterly manner, and they were received by the large audience with attention and thorough appreciation.

The orchestra was composed of twenty of our best players, and each and every one of them played in a truly artistic manner. The guests and triends of Bandsman Charles T. Wurm have put themselves under great obligations for the musical treat of last evening.

The strawberry social by J. B. McPherson Camp No. 2, Sons of Veterans, last evening at the hall of the G. A. R., was a pleasant and gratifying success.

A large crowd was present, and a nice sum was realized by the camp. The evening was occupied by music, recitations and other pleasant features, and after the serving of the refreshments dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The following programme was rendered:
Piano Solo—Miss Blanche Durant.
Recitation—"The Organ Builder"—Miss Aline Jacot.

The 12,000 Georgians who paid the direct tax on lands during the war will not get this money for sometime.

As Colonel William Speer will not have the time to copy a list of the names and get all the data in Washington without consuming too much of the state's time, and as Gover Northen says he has no authority to supley s man to do this work the matter will go over until the legislature meets and acts.

Of course, the money will be accepted by the legislature and a man will be appointed to secure a record of the names of the Georgians to whom it belongs, but this delay will prevent the money being paid over to the state for four or five months yet. Military Affairs.

Hon. Jesse J. Bull has been commissioned as captain of the Southern Rifles, of Talbotton. Adjutant General Kell has issued an order making Lieutenant Satterlee adjutant and inspector general of the state militia temporarily. Georgia's quota of arms and ammunition for its state troops, provided for by a recent act of congress, has been received by Colonel Kell. There are 170 Springfield rifles, 140 Springfield carbines, fourteen Springfield cadet rifles, 220 cartridge belts, 100 cavalry saddles, 116 cavalry bridles, 170 bayonet scabbards, 1,600 blanket bags and 32,600 cartridges.

A portion of them are to be divided out at once as follows:

WORK ON THE NEW WATERWORKS

The Water Board and the Waterworks Com-mittee Investigating the Chattahoo-chee Company's Proposition.

The new waterworks are at a standstill.

And the sisuation will likely remain unchanged until next Monday.

But then there will be a spurt.

"We can't do anything just now," said Mr.
Hutchison, chairman of the waterworks committee, "but will be getting down to hard "Work after Monday."

"Why wait till Monday?"

"It will take probably that long to investigate a plan proposed at the last meeting of the general council. The board of water commissioners and the waterworks committee will give it a thorough investigation. We will probably meet Monday." "What is the plan?"

> water at the reservoir." "What do you think of the plan?" "I haven't given it the study necessary to the formation of an opinion yet."

"The people are growing impatient over the "We all realize that, and are doing all in our power to push the work along. It is necessarily a slow work. No mistakes must be made, and we must have time to look into everything. Suppose we were to go ahead now without paying any attention to the proposition of the Chattahoochee company, do you realize what the result would have realize what the result would be?"

"What?"

"A great dissatisfaction among the people.

The plan may be a good one, and if it is we want it. The people objected to the Chattahoochee. Some wanted to go to the mountains and some wanted to go to Roswell. Some said at the present point we would be liable to the drainage from Marietta and other points. "We have studied the situation and have nade survey after survey, until we now know exactly what we are doing as far as we have gone. If Marietta drainage in after years should bother us we can extend the line from the pumping station up the river as far as we want to go." 'When will you advertise for bids?'

"At a very early date. Just as soon as this Chattahoochee proposition is disposed of we will be ready to get down to hard work. All surveys except the final one have been made, and Mr. Clayton now virtually knews where the line will be

"We have secured," continued Mr. Hutchison, "the $5,000 to add to the waterworks supply now. That work will soon commence. This will give us relief for the present Atlanta now realizes the absolute necessity for a new water supply, and we are going to have it. The committee and commission have had many, many obstacles to contend with, and now nearly all of them have been overcome.

The new works are assured, and in a short time Atlanta will have them. Chief Jeyner's letter to the mayor was a revelation to every-body, and that alone will cause us to work

TOLLESON REMEMBERED HIM. There Might Have Been a Difficulty, But the Other Man Declined.

The speaker pointed out a wiry, red-headed little man, neatly dressed, standing near the counter in the Markham rotunda.

The siege was broken by Chief of Police Connolly. This officer explained that Mr. Koppel had applied for the protection of the police, and that he, the chief of police, was bound to afford that protection.

"He ought to be able to take care of himself," remarked Mr. Tolleson at all," said the chief. "If you don't promise me to let him alone, and to get away from here, it will be my duty to have you put under bond to keep the peace."

Bright's Disease.

This insidious allment, if too long neglected, will undermine the strongest constitution and bring the victim to a premature grave. Heed the timely warning, and regain health at once by a use of the proper restorative, that great strengthener of the urinary and digestive organs, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm).

David Runkel, Cullman, Ga., writes: "I used a hundred dollars worth of medicine for Bright's disease, but it did me no good. I then took B. B. B., which relieved me. My appetite is restored and I urinate without pain."

J. A: Maddox, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had great trouble in passing urine which was filled with sediments. My back and loins gave me much pain and I lost my appetite, strongth and fiesh. I became nervous and unable to sleep soundly. Two bottles of B. B. B. gave me entire relief."

Thomas Williams, Soddy, Tenn., writes: "I was troubled with savere kidney complaint and confined to my bed. Six bottles of B. B. B. made a well man of me."

"BO-PEEP," AS BENDERED BY AT-LANTA PLAYERS.

the Benefit of the Home for the Friendless.

DeGive's opera house, from present indica-tions, will be crowded this evening. Ward's celebrated operetta, "Bo-Peep," will be pre-sented in Atlanta the first time. It is attrac-tive throughout, and atthough played by ama-teurs, the acting will be far in advance of much that is done here by professionals.

teurs, the acting will be far in advance of much that is done here by professionals.

The actors have been trained by Miss Marie Congdon, one of the most accomplished young ladies in the country. The seats yesterday afternoon in dress circle and parquet were selling at a rapid rate for both night and matinee performances.

When it is remembered that these two performances are given by the ladies of Atlanta for the benefit of the Home of the Friendless it is not surprising that everybody is turning it is not surprising that everybody is turning out to help this good cause. The people of At-lanta, when appealed to in the proper manner, never failed to do their part, and it goes without saying that a large and fashionable audi-ence will greet Atlanta's amateurs to-night. The principal parts will be played by some of Atlanta's best society people, who will be as-sisted by a chorus of about seventy-five voices. The scenery is simply perfect, the costume rich and pleasing.

The third act will be one of unusu est. It will be a picnic scene on the banks of a river. The picnickers are surrounded by attractive scenery. Shade here, sunshine and a rough precipice yonder, at the foot of which glides a beautiful river. An orchard with rarest fruits, gardens with beds of heliotrope and pansies. Amid all this splendor there are beautiful little girls, dressed in lovely costumes, dancing. There is a Maypole dance, the "High-land Fling," the "Fairy Dance," "Skirt Dance," "Tamborine Dance." Altogether the third scene is one of the prettiest ever presented at DeGive's opera h A prominent journalist, in talking about the performance yesterday, said: "There is no finer show in the world than the singing and dancing of beautiful children." And when Atlanta comes forward with a show of this kind it is always the very best. Have you seen the operetta, "Bo-Peep?" Well, it is one of the pretriest, and you should Everybody is going, and of course you will go. The entertainment will be given Friday evening and Saturday afternoon at a matin It is an entertainment that will please both the old and the young. An especially attractive feature of the entertainment will be the dancing by little Miss Daisy Underwood, Miss Mary Lou Jackson and others, under the direction of Miss Morris, their teacher.

And please don't forget what the entertain ment is given for. It is to help that nobles of institutions, the Home of the Friendless Go and see the Bo-Peep entertainment, get your money's worth, enjoy yourself, and at the same time swell the fund for one of the best charitable institutions in the city. You may secure your seat at Miller's today.

The greater part of the guests went out on the early train, and there were men, women and children, all of whom were most carefully provided for.

Wurm's orchestra was on hand, and the young people danced while the older ones enjoyed themselves in other ways.

At the dinner hour the crowd was called up to the long tables, where a regular feast was spread, and nobody went away hungry.

In the afternoon there were sack races, foot races, ball games, and other things to amuse and interest the visitors.

There was not a hitch in the whole programme, and there was never a picnic more enjoyable, or more heartily enjoyed.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The temper of the stock market today was rather reactionary, but there was lack of life in dealings, which, taken together with favorable reports from abroad and cessation of foreign buying, gave color to the the theory that the buying of yesterday, both for foreign and domestic account, was largely for short accounts. There was a strong opening. Bull rumors in Reading made that stock attractive to buyers for the time being, and a raise of 2½ per cent was the result. The general list, however, still ent was the result. The general list, however, uffered from the waiting attitude of those who may suffered from the waiting attitude of those who might be buyers, owing to the prevailing uncertainty in regard to the future of the money market, and, while rates for money were again decidedly easier, assertions that this was at least in part due to manipulation, served to keep buyers away, and bear predictions of more gold to go out on Saturday were plentiful. On the other hand, there is undoubtedly an increasing disposition among lenders to grant accommodations on time, and material concessions in call loans indicate a return of confidence in the future. Concessions from the best prices, however, were very materials of the state of indicate a return of confidence in the future. Concessions from the best prices, however, were very material in leading stocks, St. Paul and Union Pacific yielding most readily, and showing most animation. Besides Reading, however, both Wheeling and Lake Eric stocks and Great Northern preferred, showed marked strength at times. tafly of any response here, and as soon as this was known on the other side the market there recovered its loss, closing very steady at last angiby's prices. The trading here, though within narrow limits, has been fairly liberal, and prices were well supported during the entire seasion. The close was steady, at practically the best figures of the day, and after the close outside prices were bid. Receipts are somewhat lighter relatively, being only 4,352 against 3,578 last year. Our southern advices indicate that, as a result of the money pressure, cotton has been ranshed to market, and that receipts are likely soon to be relatively lighter. The Bombay shipments, at made up to date, show a deficiency of 347,000 Bales since January 1st, and the impression new obtains that 400,000 is an under estimate of the reduction in the East Indis supply. Spot sales in the southern markets are liberal, and exports continue free. The cotton is now moving from this country more rapidly than it is coming in sight, and the present low range of prices seems to stimulate this movement. Crop accounts reaching us continue in an unfavorable strain. Mr. Ellison cables us today: "Manchester accounts more favorable."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 21.—There was heavy trading in wheat today, many round lots changing hands. Before the opening bears anticipated lower prices as a result of the continued rains in the wheat belt and lower foreign markets, but the sentiment of trade was against them almost from the out-set, and though they succeeded in engineering two or three breaks during the course of the session, the general tendency of prices was upward and the close was firm at the top figures of the day. Items of news which favored the bull side, were reports that an area of low temperature was spreading over the north western wheat belt, and the notification by the government signal service; that severe frosts might be expected in Iowa and Wisconsin tonight. July, which closed at $100 yesterday, opened vere frosts might be expected in lows and Wisconsin tonight. July, which closed at $100 yesterday, opened at 99½9 93, sold up to 100½, eased off to 99%, advanced to 100%, declined to 99¾ and rallied to 100¾. By this time the small sherts had become thoroughly scared, and when near the close, dispatches came in reporting large engagements for prompt shipment from scaboard and heavy charters here, they rushed into cover lifting the price to 101%.

Corn opened weak on account of the fine growing rains in the corn belt and receipts in excess of the amount expected, but rallied with wheat and in covering by shorts. July opened tt 55% 65%, sold down to 55%, up to 56% and off to 55%, the closing rally in wheat lifted it to 55%.

Oats were governed by corn and went down with it. Provisions were weak though the fluctuations were narrow. Pork shows a loss of 50c as compared with yesterday. July lard is unchanged and July ribs are 12% c higher.

ATL

RAILROAD MATTERS. LL THE RAILBOADS CATERING TO

Time Between Atlanta and Asheville, N. C.—The East Tennessee and the Southern Passenger Association.

THE SUMMER TRAVELER.

One of the interesting questions with all the railroads now is how to catch the summer The roads diverging from Atlanta are not in the least degree behind the times in their efforts in this direction. Everything, from catchy advertising to modification of schedules and the running of specially convenient low-rate excursions, goes.

The seeker of summer rest, whether in mountain fastness or by the deep blue sea, is angled for as persistently as the spider allures the answerecting for the unsuspecting fly.

But on the whole the public is greatly benefited by the activity of the railroads in getting up these summer excursions.

No accommodation or convenience is with-held or overlooked by the roads in their efforts to catch business, and at least so far as transportation is concerned, the way of the resort seeker ought to be a pleasant one.

This season regular summer rates were put on rather early, and the roads are all making preparations, or rather anticipating a larger business than in any previous year.

One of the well-timed moves to catch summer travel has been made by the Richmond and Danville.

A new schedule, taking effect on Sunday, May 31st, has been arranged by which the vestibuled limited train leaving Atlanta at vestibuled limited train leaving Atlanta at 12:25 noon, will connect at Spartanburg, S. C., with the train for Asheville, N. C., arriving there at 9 o'clock. This makes the time between Atlanta and Asheville eight hours and thirty-rive minutes—the shortest time ever accomplished between these two points.

Heretofore the connection at Spartanburg has been an unsatisfactory one, requiring a lay-over of several hours, and consequently proving a serious annoyance to travelers going to the many popular resorts in North Carolina.

Ima.

This close connection between Atlanta and Asheville will doubtless help considerably to draw summer travel in that direction. About the East Tennessee

The postponed withdrawal of the East Tennessee from the Southern Passenger Association continued to be an interesting topic of conversation in railroad circles yesterday.

Since the East Tennessee announced its intention of withdrawing from the Association that institution has been regarded as in a that institution has been regarded as in a somewhat precarious condition.

To railroad men who thought they understood the situation it looked like the withdrawal of the East Tennessee, with the actual and contemplated withdrawal of other roads, meant that the association was doomed to a state of innocuous desuctude.

How much truth there is, or may have been, in this sort of speculation probably those who indulged in it will never know, now that the aspect of the horizon has changed.

As it stands, it looks like the association will some out on top.

As it stands, it looks like the association will some out on top.

The East Tennessee's withdrawal from the association had hardly been accepted as a fact when the notice of postponement was issued, as referred to yesterday, and now the interesting question is what made the company reconsider—for if it is nothing else, the deferment means that the East Tennessee is going to look a little further belore it leaps.

That Car Service,

The organization of the car service is only waiting on the action of the Richmond and Danville.

Danville.

"I do not know that our company has declined to go into the service," said Mr. L. L. McCleskey, division general freight and assengor agent yesterday, when asked about the tratter. "So far as I know no answer has yet been given, and nothing has been done since the general conference some time ago." The Richmond and Danville will, in all probability, make known its intention in a few days.

The Lottery Case Postponement.

Commenting on the postponement of the lottery ase The New York World says: commenting of the postponement of the lockey case The New York World says:

The supreme court has postponed the hearing until autumn in order that the case may be determined by a full bench, but the briefs are in, and a careful reading of them is not very reassuring to those who desire to see some effective restraint placed upon this legalized gambling. The argument of the loctory lawyers upon the constitutional questions involved is very strong; that of Assistant Attoriety General Maury for the government seems much weaker than a really capable attorney general would have made it. If the law lies with the right in the case we must depend upon the court to discoverer the fact without much help from the attorney general's office as at present manned.

This is scarcely just to the attorney general's effice. Mr. Maury has made the best case that was possible for the government in this controversy, and has, presumably, acted in full harmony with Attorney General Mifler, who has been prevented by illness from preparing the brief in person. The trouble is that the government has not much of a case on the face of the papers. The measure which the Louisiana Lottery Company challenges before the supreme court can be defended only on the ground of moral expediency. Undoubtedly it is, as an abstract proposition, an invasion of the liberty of the press and an infringement of personal rights. Theoretically, if congress may deny the use of the mails to newspapers containing lottery advertisements, it may with equal propriety take similar action in the case of liquor advertisements, playing-card advertisements, bicket-shop advertisements or any other which the party in the majority it the moment may choose to regard as immoral and pernicious. There is, indeed, no end to the mischief and oppression to which such a principle, suce established, may not lead. It is but natural therefore, that the constitution should repudate it in a general way, and that it should be destitute of support in precedent. We can readily see that the attorney general's office may have found: it impossible to defend the law on any but moral, and, to a certain extent, sentimental frounds. As we see it, the question is not whether the government can find any defense in laws already existent, but whether the supreme court will, in view of the gravity of the case, originate a law to fit this particular emergency. The strictures on Mr. Maury strike us as unjust. He has no will, in view of the gravity of the case, originate a law to fit this particular emergency. The strict-tree on Mr. Maury strike us as unjust. He has no case, and he virtually confesses as much. What his brief means is that the supreme court should make a case for him.—Washington (D. C.) Critic-Record.

Why did not the attorney general then discover the limitations of power and see that the bill was, soframed as to be constitutional? The World argently pointed out the necessity for such caution at the time, and the reply uniformly was that the attorney general's office had thoroughly considered that matter. How comes it, then, that the moment the law is questioned the best the attorney general can do is to confess that he has ac case and pray the court "to make a case for lim?"

DR. F. L. CONSTANTINE.

He Died Yesterday of Old Age at His Home

He Died Yesterday of Old Age at His Home on Wheat Street.

Dr. F. L. Constantine, the oldest member of his profession in Atlanta, died yesterday at his home on Wheat street.

Dr. Constantine was born over eighty-eight years ago in L' Oriens, France. He left there at twelve years of age, coming with his uncie to America. He lived first at Demopolis, Ala., where a French colony was established. When he was sixteen or seventeen years old he carried the mail from St. Stephens to Huntsville, through what was then a wilderness. He afterwards studied medicine, and later was a merchant at Erle, Green county, where he accumulated a considerable property. He married Miss Hamlett. He next moved to Missassippi, and lived there two or three years, farming extensively. He moved back to Utah. Ala, where he lived until 1871, going to Birmingham, and finally to Atlanta in 1850. He leaves two sons and four daughters, and a large family of descendants.

His death was due to the general effects of old age, rather than to any specific trouble.

Dr. Constantine's father was an officer in the "grand army" of the great Aspoleon.

The family has ; now, as mementoes of this soldier, a sword of honor and a cross of the Legion of Honor. Dr. Constantine prized these highly.

The funeral will occur this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the residence at 58 Wheat street.

ROCHESTER STEEL MATS,
Striped Steel Mats, Steel Stairways, Car

What are their qualities?
They do not accumulate deposits, nor require to be shaken. They will not break down and flatten out as with wire or rubber mats, but they will outwear all others combined in the market, being of steel ribs placed perpendicularly to each other and so secured as to permit of a slight elasticity.
They are the most perfect scrapers; they are ornamental, a quality found in no competing mat. Their stcucture is firm, solid, mathematically regular and agreeable in form and outline.
With all these advantages their cost does not exceed that of any metal mat offered for sale. It is indispensible for hotels, elevators, banks, public buildings, schools, street cars, churches, Weduesday, May 27th, at 3 O'clock.

ON M'DANIEL STREET, ON NEW ELECTRIC LINE, In Pitsburg, South of E. T. R. R.

In Pitsburg, South of E. T. R. R.

Take cars in front of Constitution. Here are lots for business men who are connected with the various railroads, shops and manufactories in the south side of the city. The lots are level, no grading to be done; are on the electric line, where your family can reach the schools, churches and business center of the city at any time in a very few minutes. The demand for property on this street is rapidly on the increase. You can buy a home cheap, now; but if you delay, of course you must necessarily pay more in the future. Then exercise your own good judgment, and attend the sale Wednesday, May 2tth, at 3 o'clock, and secure one or more lots. You can never regret buying, for they will increase in value from the day you buy. People who are actively engaged in business in the vicinity of McDaniel street appreciate the importance of living on the electric line, where the family has rapid access to the very heart of the city at any property.
